

Synopsis: This short documentary intimately portrays Somaia Ramish, a poet and mother thrust into unexpected exile.

It follows her journey as she seeks to rediscover herself while navigating the isolation of a foreign land. Through her poetry and powerful visuals, the film captures her profound sense of loss and longing for home, reflecting on her struggle to rebuild her identity amidst the emotional weight of displacement.